Vocation Corner Thirtieth Sunday of the Year – B

A Vocation View: 'Master grant that I may see'. The values we were blind to in our youth, now become clear. Blindness gives way to vision through faith in Jesus. As children of God, we are called to do good things, and to witness God's love.

Prayer: For all men and women now considering their vocation, that they will take heart in Jesus' call to serve Him as priests, deacons or in the consecrated life by our words of encouragement and prayers of support, we pray to the Lord.

Action: Since its origins consecrated life has been marked by its thirst for God: quaerere Deum. May your first and supreme desire therefore be to witness to the fact that God should be listened to and loved with all your heart, with all your mind and with all your might, before any other person or thing. Pope Benedict XVI, in a 2005 message to religious in the Diocese of Rome

The Bishop's Annual Appeal: Doing the little things in life in Christ's name can be a great way for us to take the steps necessary to become a better disciple. St. Thérèse Lisieux once said, "You know well enough that our Lord does not look so much at the greatness of our actions, nor even at their difficulty, but at the love at which we do them." Please give generously to this year's Bishop's Annual Appeal.

Go; your faith made you well

The passage dealing with the healing of blind Bartimaeus is one of the most animated in the Gospel. It could easily be adapted by the media.

The evangelist has recorded this healing story to illustrate how Bartimaeus became a follower of Jesus. At the beginning, he desired to meet Jesus and shouted out: Jesus, son of David, have mercy on me! In other words, pay attention to me and grant my request. Though people in the crowd tried in vain to silence him, Bartimaeus was so loud that Jesus heard his cries and commanded them to clear a passage for him.

Then Jesus asks Bartimaeus to specify his request: What do you want me to do for you? Bartimaeus' response: Rabbouni, (my teacher), let me see again. Jesus' response acknowledged Bartimaeus' deep faith. Christ recognized the intensity of this blind man who continued to shout out to him. Christ replied: "Go, your faith has made you well." The recovery of sight and recognition of the blind man's faith indicated that his salvation involved much more than mere physical healing. Bartimaeus was cured, became a disciple and followed Jesus.

These passages enable us to see that, even before his cure, Bartimaeus believed in Christ and was a potential disciple. The passage ends with this description of this disciple's actions: Immediately the man regained his sight and followed Jesus. Jesus had extended the same invitation to the Twelve: "Come, follow me." When Bartimaeus expressed his request to Jesus, he called him Rabbouni, which translates as "My Teacher." There is also evidence of Bartimaeus' detachment since he threw off his cloak as he approached Jesus. This cloak was all that had to wear and according to the Law, it was returned that evening. Bartimaeus' complete detachment exemplified what is required of a disciple.

Just as happened with Bartimaeus, I ask the Lord to open my eyes so that I may discover how precious He is and respond to his invitation to follow him.
