Sask KofC Vocations Endowment Weekend

The Bishops of Saskatchewan have partnered with the Sask K of C Charitable Foundation to create the Sask K of C Vocations Endowment. The proceeds from this Endowment will be disbursed on an annual basis equally to each seminarian throughout all Saskatchewan Dioceses and Eparchy to help defray the $33,000.00 per year it costs to educate each Seminarian. The provincial launch of the Endowment will take place during a major campaign during the weekend of February 2nd and 3rd. Please view our website at www.saskkofcfoundation.com for further details and make a contribution. The Bishops, Dioceses, KofC and Catholic faithful thank you in advance for your generous support of the education and development of Seminarians through Prayer and financial assistance.

Vocation Corner - Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time - C

A Vocation View: The Lord says: "Before I formed you in the womb I knew you; before you were born I dedicated you." Always listen to an Old Friend.

Prayer: For those called to celibacy for the sake of the kingdom as priests, sisters and brothers, that they will be encouraged to follow the Lord, faithful to His choice of them, we pray to the Lord.

Action: Since the call of the first disciples, some followers of Jesus have sought a different way to live their faith. In the early church groups of widows gathered to dedicate themselves to prayer and good works. Others craved solitary prayer, so they fled to the desert to commune with God and guide others in the pursuit of holiness. Monasteries, cloisters, and religious houses eventually came into being, and religious life as we know it began to take shape. Reflect on your call.

Provocative words followed by ...

After his baptism in the Jordan River, near Jericho in Judea, Jesus returned to Galilee. He settled in Peter's house, in Capernaum, a small town on the shores of Lake Gennesaret, a location that was considered cosmopolitan. Christ's reputation as an itinerant preacher who taught at synagogues had preceded him. His fame had spread and he was praised and listened to with great attention. This did not happen in Nazareth, in the synagogue of the little village where Jesus grew up.

We recall that Jesus read a passage from the prophet Isaiah: The spirit of the Lord God is upon me, because the Lord has anointed me; he has sent me to bring good news to the oppressed, to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and release to the prisoners, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor (Is 61:1-2). Jesus used these words to explain his mission on earth. When we read the passage from St. Luke's Gospel, (Lk 4:21), we see it is the rationale for his prophetic mission. When we continue our reading (Lk 4:21-30), Jesus kept on answering his audience's questions: Is this not Joseph's son? Jesus' responses upset the crowd particularly when he reminded them about passages referring to the Prophets Elijah and Elisha who protected two non-Jews: a woman from Zarephath and a Syrian general called Naaman. The faith of these two pagans contrasted to the disbelief of the Nazarenes. Are we on board with Christ's missionary project and our own practices?

Christ's words call upon us to reflect on our actions. They force us to delve deep inside ourselves and to evaluate our understandings and intentions. Are we fulfilling or resisting the Gospel message? Sometimes we succumb to the temptation to choose what suits and disturbs us the least, at the risk of ignoring the prophetic and evangelical dimensions of our actions. We should not be surprised to discover this same inspiration exists in people who do not belong to our faith but also devote themselves both body and soul as caregivers. They are actively engaged in the promotion of justice, education, defense of the environment and other measures that serve humanity.
